PRESERVING THE TRADITIONAL LOOK of Memorial Hall and at the same time achieving needed expansion, this architect's drawing shows the front view of the Elm Square library as it is to look plus a $340,000 wing adjacent to Essex St. The library addition, for which a federal grant of $85,000 has already been approved, is one of four capital improvement items included in the Town Manager's 1965 budget.

Opinions Out On Big Issues

Two of the three candidates for the Board of Selectmen reported in a League of Women Voters information sheet this week that they favor approval of all four capital expenditure measures planned for the March Warrant. Incumbent William Stewart and candidate Michael E. Brennan gave all-out support to plans for a West Andover fire station, public works garage, police station and addition to the library.

Brennan went one-step further in proposing that West Andover should have its own municipal complex, housing (perhaps in one building) a fire station, police sub-station, branch library, public works storage, a branch post office and a collection center for tax and water bills.

The third candidate, incumbent Roger W. Collins expressed some reservation about scheduling all four projects for 1965, but said that at least some of them should be cleared now to lessen the tax

Candidates' Night Jan. 9

All fourteen candidates seeking election to town posts in the March election will appear at a "Meet the Candidates" night to be held Feb. 9 at 8 p.m. in Sanborn School. Moderator for this League of Women Voters program will be Frederick S. Allis, Jr. of Phillips Academy, a former school committeeman.

As is customary, these League sessions are held to give all Andover voters an opportunity to hear and question the candidates. Some 5,500 invitations and candidates information sheets have already been mailed to local families by the civic-minded organization.

This year, in an effort to stimulate informal discussion, the

- Police say that 16 dozen eggs were stolen Monday night from Kenneth Thompson, 99 Gould Rd., and speculate that youngsters can be held responsible.
- The Board of Selectmen has confirmed the appointment of Mrs. Milton J. Meyers, 23 Alden Rd., to the Board of Public Welfare to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. A. L. Bolton who has resigned because she is no longer a resident of Andover. The term runs until April, 1967.

- Warren Brothers Roads Co. was denied its request for a gravel permit this week. The Board of Selectmen, after having the matter under advisement, refused to allow the permit for a pit on River St. near the Wilmington line.
- Francis J. Trombley, Lupine Rd., has been named to the town's Transportation Committee.

Veto Of Leasing Plan Is Considered Certain

The fact that the committee to study the leasing of office space for Town Hall reports it reached a "unanimous decision" Monday is considered by observers a clear indication that the eight-member group will veto the proposal.

The committee was named by the Board of Selectmen for quick consideration of an offer of space in the planned Standard International Building to be constructed at Elm Square by Danton Realty Trust.

Chairman Robert Neikirk said Tuesday he was "surprised" Monday when the committee indicated it was ready to make a decision and further surprised by the speed with which it acted.

No announcement of the committee's attitude or any recommendations it may make to the Board will be released, except as the Board sees fit, Neikirk said. The report is due Feb. 8, Monday. At the third and final meeting.

Andover may get a $1 million addition to its light industry family, if Town Meeting will clear a special article to cover installation of sewerage to a site off Rt. 93 on Dascomb Rd.

If Manager Richard Bowen receives a letter of intent from the corporation (one whose name is known to U.S. consumers), the necessary article will be added to those to be considered by voters in March.

The proposed site is adjacent to the area where Allied Chemical Corp. will erect a warehouse. Final word on this long-delayed project is expected within a matter of days.

Wrestling Is PTA Feature

The South School P.T.A. will hold a Family Sports Night at the school's gymnasium Wednesday, February 10, at 7:15 p.m.

Featured will be Jim Loscutoff, former Boston Celtics basketball star, now an Andover resident and basketball coach at Boston State College, Boston. Mr. Loscutoff is also director of Camp Evergreen, Andover. He is to speak later the same night at Shawsheen P.T.A.

An added feature will be a wrestling demonstration by two prominent in the greater Lawrence sports picture, Norman Salem of Lawrence and Gerald Grasso of Haverhill. Salem comes to Sports Night at South School with a total of 19 New England wrestling titles, being the first boy to win the coveted triple crown: the New England Y.M.C.A. Wrestling Championship, A.A.U. Title, and the New England States Wrestling Championship, all in one year. He is the winner for ten straight years of the New England Y.M.C.A. Wrestling Championship.

Grasso is known in the greater Lawrence area, having been the assistant football coach at Lawrence High School when they were Class A Schoolboy Champions during 1957 and 1958. He presently is the assistant coach and science teacher at Haverhill High School. In addition to wrestling, he has also run on a number of occasions the B.A.A. Marathon in Boston. It is hoped that parents will bring their children for this event.

Raytheon Denies

Current Rumors

A Lexington spokesman for Raytheon Co. denied Tuesday the latest batch of rumors concerning the fate of the Andover plant.

There is nothing to the report that the electronics firm will merge the operations of its Lowell and Andover plants, the corporation representative said.

He denied also the rumor that the plant has or is to be sold, even for a lease-back arrangement. After a check with plant and division management as well as the company's real estate department, the spokesman said there is "no substance" to either report.

Track Stars Faring Well

Andover was edged out by Randolph (33 1/2 to 29) in its bid for the State Class C Indoor Title last weekend, but local track stars set some records nevertheless.

Ed Huot and Rollie Heroux of the AHS team qualified for the Nationals in New York Feb. 20 adding their names to that of Bill Doherty who earned the right at the B.A.A. two weeks ago.

Huot, who holds the Andover High shot put mark, beat the old "C" record by tossing the ball 54 feet, 1/4 inch, almost four feet higher than the previous record.

Heroux came in just one step behind Randolph's man in the 1,000 yard event and both beat the old record.

Other events:
Bob Petrie did the 600 yard dash in 1:17, a new record to top the 1:19 he set two weeks ago.
Jos Provostoli finished second in the two-mile.

Jack McMahon took a third place in the 300.

Relayers Bill Doherty, Ron Kaczynski, Petrie and McMahon took a third place and Doherty as fourth in the 50-yard dash, Steve Hall fourth in the hurdles and Alan West, fifth in the mile.

Local Students Make Who's Who

Three Andover students attending Merrimack College are among the 27 from the North Andover campus listed in the 1965 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges.

They are: seniors, Dennis J. Gendron, 24 Brechin Ter., and Ann L. Girardin, 7 Holly Ter.; and one junior, Ronald J. McAllister, 53 Whittier St.

Gendron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Gendron, is a graduate of Central Catholic High School and a scholarship and honor student. He is a past editor of the college's weekly newspaper and the present manager of the student radio station, WVMH.

Miss Girardin graduated from St. Mary's High School in Lynn and is a member of the choral society, PAGE Club, a secretarial administration club, and treasurer of the senior class. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Girardin.

McAllister also graduated from Central Catholic in Lawrence and is junior class president, managing editor of the school paper and a past treasurer of the lay apostolate. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. McAllister.

Shawsheen PTA Fathers Night

The Shawsheen PTA has planned a double barreled program for its annual Fathers Night, scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 10 at 8 p.m.

Jim Loscutoff, former Boston Celtics star and operator of Andover's Camp Evergreen, will speak on youth and athletics.

In addition, the six candidates seeking the two vacancies on the School Committee in the March election will give brief talks presenting their points of view on the Andover school program.

Refreshments will be served.

ALFRED H. DONAHOE

Chorus Elects Alfred Donahoe

Alfred H. Donahoe, 1 William St., is the newly elected president of the Andover Community Chorus.

Other officers named are Mrs. Rudolph Perron, vice president; Mrs. William V. Murphy, treasurer; Mrs. Frederic Pease, secretary.

Concerts scheduled for this spring include performances at Church of the Holy Name, Swampscott, Riverside Church in Lawrence, South School, Andover, and a combined concert with the Andover Male Chorus and the high school A Cappella choir on May 5.

There are a few openings for tenors in the group, according to Alphonse Tatarunis, director. For more information, contact Mr. Tatarunis, Lincoln St., or Mr. Donahoe.

PROVING THAT THE AFS PROGRAM provides an opportunity for more than two-way learning, students from a variety of foreign countries watch as a dainty Japanese student demonstrates the traditional dance style of her country for an audience of U. S. students at Andover High School.

AFS Students Delight AHS

Some 30 foreign exchange students danced and sang their way into friendship with students at Andover High School this week where they presented two off-the-cuff talent shows for assemblies.

The foreign teenagers, all living in New England homes and attending private and public schools under the American Field Service program, spent the weekend in Andover homes participating in a round of activities.

Monday, in addition to performing songs and dances from their homelands, the young people attended a number of classes where they could talk first hand about their life at home and the issues of the day.

Host families were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel B. Armstrong; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Berg; Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Copeland; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Costello, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gaunt; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gower; Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Higgins; Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Kempton; Mr. and Mrs. Jack A. Kyger and Mr. and Mrs. George Muller.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Porter; Mr. and Mrs. Francis Reardon; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson; Mr. and Mrs. Earl M. Sargent; Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Schiller; Mr. and Mrs. William C. Schmidt; Mr. and Mrs. James P. Stewart; Mr. and Mrs. Jason P. Toby; Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Vogt; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Pease; and Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Whitman.

Increased Export Trade Aim Of Boston SeminarsA comprehensive regional action program will get under way this month to help Eastern Massachusetts industry expand its exports.
The seminar-plan was described this week by W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.The new approach is called BLU-Trade, developed by the International Marketing Institute of Cambridge, established in 1960 by Harvard University's School of Business Administration. (The initials BLU stand for business labor, and universities, indicating the co-operative and mutually beneficial nature of the project.)The program will feature a 10-hour training seminar for manufacturers and individual help for companies in selection of markets, finding distributors, and obtaining initial orders."Simply stated, BLU-Trade is designed to take the mystery and complexity out of exporting," the NAM President said. "In practical operating terms, the participating manufacturers will learn what product, or products, to export; how to export, how to select the best markets; and how to obtain the names of potential customers."The project has been endorsed by the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and such major business groups of the Greater Boston area as the World Trade Center in New England, Inc., and the International Trade Association of New England.Gullander said that the NAM as a national organization, wants to arouse a much greater interest among small and medium size companies in the benefits of exporting. "We believe that this can be a feasible and profitable activityfor many companies which may have avoided the field in the belief that exporting is too intricate and complicated for profitable operations."The seminars, he said will provide manufacturers with specific answers to such questions as:
● How can my company get its share of export business? What is the best way to research and evaluate overseas markets?● How can we export with a minimum of risk to my company?
How do we go about getting credit information, data on foreign sales contracts?● How can we avoid pitfalls in regard to trade-marks, licensing arrangements, tax regulations?Gullander, a member of the National Export Expansion Council of the United States Department of Commerce, said that, in addition to the business organizations in the Greater Boston area, bankers, freight forwarders, carriers, foreign credit insurance brokers
- all are part of the drive."BLU-Trade was thoroughly tested in Worcester, Mass., and Hartford, Conn., last year in pilot programs, and export sales and profits have resulted for manufacturers in those areas."The Boston seminars (two of two hours each, and two of three hours each) will begin on Feb. 9, and will be conducted at the M.I.T.
Faculty Club, 50 Memorial Drive, Cambridge. Between 100 and 150 companies are expected to be represented.The teaching staff will include:
Dr. Ernest J. Enright and Mr.
Alexander O. Stanley of the International Marketing Institute.LEASING ISSUE
NOW SETTLED(Continued from Page One) of the study group, members considered the written proposal submitted by Developer John Davidson which set the lease price at $2.98 a square foot or $53,640 annually for 18,000 square feet. Davidson's original, verbal price was $3.00.
Last week, on the basis of a "gross" figure discussed by the developer many, including the town manager, were under the impression that the price had dropped to $2.30.Davidson charged this week that his plan was viewed with suspicion from the first instead of as "creative" solution to a problem.
He favors construction of a new Town Hall at the present location and sees a temporary leasing arrangement (his proposal was for five years) as the only answer to redevelopment of the area.It has been reported, but unconfirmed, that the study commission of a municipal government center on the Shaw property instead of reconstruction of the present building, an early consideration.HAMMOND

Merrimack
Valley Works
Last Year?

See For

THESE SMALL, TRANSLUCENT STRIPS AND DISKS are quartz crystal plates which serve as integral components in many types of carrier transmission equipment manufactured by the Merrimack Valley Works for the Bell System. Some of the plates are made from natural quartz. Most are made of grown quartz manufactured at our North Andover Plant. We produce about 2½-million quartz crystal plates of various shapes and sizes each year. Our man-made quartz was developed by Bell Telephone Laboratories. Our carrier transmission equipment helps the New England Telephone Company and other Bell telephone companies to give you dependable telephone service.

We sent engineers from our Manufacturing Engineering Organization, accompanied by Bell Labs engineers, to Iowa to help Northwestern Bell Telephone people prepare for the installation of one of our newest products, TM-1 Microwave equipment, in tandem with our TJ Microwave system for the first time. This on-site help is part of Western Electric's full service concept. In the past year it has taken some of our people to many parts of the United States to ensure our customers the finest performance of our carrier transmission equipment.

We were honored for the safety efforts of all employees at the Merrimack Valley Works when Western Electric President Paul A. Gorman (left) came to our North Andover Plant and presented us with the Western Electric President's Safety Award. The award was accepted by Merrimack Valley Works Manager Harry N. Snook (right) in behalf of the MVW people.

We launched new Explorer Post 80, comprised of the sons of our employees. It is the first such Post in the North Essex Council to be sponsored by an industry and we are mighty proud of it. Here Western Electric engineer Luis Salazar (second from left) explains the communications applications of a LASER to Explorers Bill Collins and Tom Paine and Post Advisor Hank Wells. Mr. Salazar, representing WE, has lectured on this subject before a large number of college, high school and civic groups in this area, New England, Canada and Puerto Rico.

We crowned a new Vacation Queen as the highlight of our Merrimack Valley Club's outstanding annual social event, the "Hello, Charley" Girl dance. In the photo at the right, Donna Leary, outgoing queen, places a floral crown on the head of the newly-elected 1964 "Hello, Charley" Girl, Janice LaFleur. About 1,500 Merrimack Valley Works' people and their guests attended the coronation.

IN ALL ITS ORIGINAL GLORY, the B & M station as it first looked when built alongside the relocated tracks. In its present form, the station has been abandoned by the B & M, housing commercial ventures instead.

Past, Present & Future Of RR Interesting Tale

"The B&M is out of the passenger business and no matter how many studies and inquiries they have, nothing is going to change that."

We must consider the ICC ruling on the B&M final and think in terms of dealing with the MBTA when we talk about rail service to Boston, Town Manager Richard Bowen said this week.

Bowen and Board of Selectmen Chairman Philip K. Allen sat in on the latest rail conference held for Merrimack Valley officials, this one with MBTA General Council Edward F. McLaughlin, Jr.

The Council, Bowen reports, pulled no punches in outlining the risks involved for Andover if it signs a contract for resumption of regular train service into the Hub. Right now it would cost the town nothing to have an IMPROVED (expanded) service reinstituted. On the basis of use studies, it would appear that the passengers themselves could cover the tariff for bringing the train on in from North Reading.

The future could be quite another story. In the event service is restored, Bowen said, periodic passenger audits would be made and Andover would be subject to assessments if the income on the Reading to Andover run dropped under the total of expenses.

Andover would have to share too any financial burden the MBTA might run into as a result of offering this kind of competition to unsubsidized carriers in the area. If Eastern Mass. Railway, for example, should find itself damaged (and the company has already said it would be) by this arrangement, it could claim damages.

Each town on the route would have to share in the cost of making a damage settlement with such carriers, or in the cost of buying them out if a satisfactory agreement could not be reached in arbitration, Bowen explains.

For the town, the contract proposed offers two avenues of escape: 1) Andover could withdraw from the contract within 60 days of its annual termination date or 2) withdraw upon notice if a general revision in the fares sets the prices higher than the town thinks is fair.

The present state subsidy arrangement for the MBTA runs until the end of 1967 by which time the transit authority expects to be out of the railroad business and into rapid transit operation, Bowen said.

And the economics of running present-day rapid transit equipment would knock Andover right out of the direct service picture, according to the McLaughlin's explanation.

The Authority believes in a rail-head set up - rail and rubber - which would mean that people from towns like Andover would be bussed to the rapid transit cut off point. It is not impossible, however, that late developments in the design of rapid transit equipment could alter the operating conditions that now preclude bringing such cars this far. In which case, Bowen says, the prospect for direct service would improve.

The Old Railroad

Meanwhile Andover makes do with one lone a.m. commuter train and a single run for returning workers. It may soon be that parents will be taking their children to view the vanishing Budd liner with the same degree of excitement that children were rushed to the tracks a few generations ago to view the magnificent Iron Horse.

It is rail freight cars that make primary use of the tracks through Andover today which brings us full cycle, for it was the prospect for expanded commercial development led to the laying of the first line into town 130 years ago. In 1832 Hobart Clark Esq. came from a trip to Utica, N. Y. fired by the thought of what a railroad could do to speed the transportation of goods. He met in the old Locke hotel (now 111 Main St.) with interested citizens and the decision was made to petition for a charter for an Andover & Wilmington line which would connect with the Boston & Lowell RR already under construction.

It was done, and the laying out began in the highly non-technical way that was practical when civil engineers were still scarce as hen's teeth. It is said (and reported by Bessie Goldsmith in her book about Andover) "that 75 per cent of the line was run without a surveying instrument, ranging out the straight lines by three poles and measuring in the curves by offsets."

Wood fires were kept burning along the tracks to provide a quick flame for blasting and Hobart Clark's son, then a chain boy, told later of seeing a fearless Irishman swing a brand of fire to keep it alive while he worked with an open bag of powder in the other hand.

The track came into town on Andover street, crossed Phillips St. and ran through the fields parallel to School St., behind the present site of St. Augustine's School, across and along the West side of Central St. until it came to the depot on Essex.

Nearby Captain Nathaniel Whittier (as in Whittier St.) put up a group of buildings for the railroad and opened a shop, eventually putting as many as 75 carpenters, painters and blacksmiths on the payroll.

And the depot? If you step across the threshold of the Andover Playhouse today, you are walking where the town's first railroad patrons dropped their bags.

There were no gates, no flagmen in those days. Just signs which said "Look Out For The Engine."

The line was only eight miles long. It wound back and forth across numerous roads and bridges - its construction such a project that it was three and one half years in the making. It opened to the public August 8, 1836.

These early days were recalled by an "Andoverian" in a 1914 edition of the Townsman: "The trains were small and a few a day, often only one car, seldom more than two, no express trains, no night trains, no Sunday trains, no Pullmans and no mail cars. EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Too Big A Bite

One of the frustrating things about government by committee is that it frequently stimulates more reaction than action. It may be more democratic for elected officials (and it is possible to quarrel with this attitude) to split responsibility for decision making with groups of citizen "experts", but it makes for a very indirect way of coming to the point.

Committees invariably have difficulty in restricting inquiries to a narrow frame of reference, a problem that has confronted Andover's latest committee - appointed to advise the Board of Selectmen on the practicality of a space leasing proposal.

The proposal has come from two local businessmen turned developers. It offers the town temporary quarters in a new commercial office building to be constructed in Elm Square on the site once ear-marked (in Urban Renewal plans) for a municipal government center.

The Selectmen viewed the offer as a possible short-term solution to the growing need for improved facilities. The big question: Is it a solution we can afford?

It is this question, the one of "economic feasibility" that the Board asked an eight-member committee to consider. True, it is not a question that can be considered in a total vacuum. But neither is it a question that should lead to a consideration of the desirability of leasing in general, nor the laying of plans for the ultimate preservation or destruction of Town Hall. These, and numerous others that come to mind, are questions for our long-range policy makers - the Selectmen - to lay out for Town Meeting if and when they choose to insert an article in the Warrant asking for funds to support a lease program.

It is valid for the committee to seek some sort of cursory estimate of what it would cost to shore up Town Hall and maintain it for the five to seven years of the proposed lease.

But the town is not lacking for opinions about what should be the final solution to the municipal housing problem - it has a sheaf of professional and non-professional plans to draw upon. And the Board of Selectmen, long involved with the formulating of some long-range attitudes about how the town should develop, has some ideas of its own.

On the surface of it, a leasing plan has merit if the town is to consider the complete inner reconstruction of the present Town Hall or the use of the site for a new construction. If, as some propose, a new Town government center is to be laid out on the former Shaw property - the municipal parking lot - it has less merit. Presumably Manager Bowen and his staff could live with some further inconvenience if specific and dated plans for development of that site were announced.

It is hoped that the "Feasibility" committee will stick to restricted economic comparisons in making a decision about whether to stand for or against leasing.

And that the Selectmen, in any event, will come forth THIS YEAR with a concrete proposal for a refurbished or new Town Hall complex that can be accepted by the Town and allowed for in upcoming budgets.

To delay longer is to invite the establishment of still another study committee.

If there is anything this town doesn't need, it is an additional voluminous report to stash away with those already at rest in the manager's vault.

Story Hour

St. Valentine provides the inspiration for programs for children this week at Memorial Hall Library. "Be My Valentine" is the theme of three stories for school age children this afternoon at 3:30 in the children's room. They will hear The Valentine Cat; How The Prince's Pride Was Broken; The Rat Catcher's Daughter.

Next week on Feb. 11 at 3:30 the group may see a half-hour feature film, Beaver Valley. Did you know beavers are fun-lovers and really they have a good sense of humor? The film was made at a beaver pond and shows a full year in the life of this likable animal with the other animals, birds and fish of the area.

Littlest Listeners

The Squirrels section of four and five year olds will gather in the Children's room of the main library for a seasonal program on Feb. 9 at 10 o'clock.

The Littlest Listeners of Ballardvale will meet with Mrs. MacCausland at the branch at 10 a.m. on Feb. 11. At that time they will learn more about valentines (by making one) and about St. Valentine in a story program.

Founder's Display

Some of the personal library of John Smith who proposed, in a letter to his son Joseph, "to head a subscription list for the purchase of land and building, and an endowment to take care of a library, if there should be one, and a Reading Room..." some of the founder's library is now on display in the lobby of the Memorial Hall Library he was first to endow. Mr. Smith continued in this same letter, "It appears to me if the people of Andover would take this matter in hand, and all give according to their ability, the thing might very soon be done." His pledge was to be good for six months. This was in 1870; Memorial Hall Library was off to a good start. The needed money was raised. Today visitors will see an oil portrait of Mr. Smith in the main reading room. It is the work of Edgar Parker.

The early and middle 19th century calf-bound books which formerly belonged to John Smith were loaned to the library by his granddaughter, Mary Byers Smith.

Smith, a dedicated believer in human freedom, was a delegate from the Massachusetts Anti-Slavery Society to a Convention of the Friends of Freedom in London. Of course he owned a copy of William Channing's SLAVERY. This is one of his books now on display. Others reflect other interests of his. He was a native of Scotland and owned THE NEW PICTURE OF EDINBURGH, printed in London in 1829, and THE HISTORY OF SCOTLAND by Sir Walter Scott, Bart.

Two of his arithmetic books, which in those days were guides for business men, including conversion tables for foreign currency, computation of interest and other time-savers for financial transactions, are also to be seen.

The oldest book in the collection is A VOYAGE AROUND THE WORLD IN M, DCC, XL, I, II, III, IV. (1,741, 2, 3, 4) It took longer to circle the globe then. A moral tale for young people is also early, being IDLENESS AND INDUSTRY; the HISTORY OF JAMES PRESTON AND LAZY LAWRENCE, published in Philadelphia in 1808.

Mr. Smith saved his favorite literary reading, among which are the WORKS OF Edmund Spenser, in several volumes; the ODYSSEY of Homer; The DRAMATICK WORKS OF WILLIAM SHAKESPEARE, with Dr. Samuel Johnson's preface and notes, printed in six volumes at Boston in 1803.

Down The Years

75 Years Ago - February, 1890

"Some seventy-five alumnae of Abbot Academy, Lawrence, participated yesterday in a pleasant reunion at the Vendome." - Boston Journal. --Oh, ye that wield the pen! This of an institution founded over 60 years ago. That has graduated over 3,000 young ladies. Whose name and fame is in all lands of the world, and now to be located in Lawrence! Ah me! Ah me!

The Proprietor's fund which became available for use this year allows the school committee sufficient money to enable them to put into every school room in our town a complete set of wall maps of the latest editions.

Travellers on the Boston & Maine will no longer be troubled or amused by the varied and many signs on the fences bordering the railroad track. Manager Furber has ordered these now to be destroyed. It is estimated that they cost the advertisers $10,000.

Among the important petitions already handed to the Selectmen is one for the laying out of the upper part of Bartlett St. from Morton to Chapel as a town way, and money to put it in good condition.

50 Years Ago - February, 1915

The Boston papers report a lecture by Dr. William P. Graves - a well known Andover boy - at the Harvard Medical School, his subject being "Heredity." He maintained, that from a medical standpoint, immigration of other races to our country was sure to produce a weaker stock.

School Committee votes to ask the town for $100,000 to build and equip a new high school. Estimates were submitted comparing the cost of remodelling the old building and erecting a new one and the plan of having a new school house was much in favor.

The amount deposited in the school savings bank during the year 1914 was $1,767.66.

25 Years Ago - February, 1940

Fireman from Lawrence, North Andover and North Reading were called to aid this morning in a blaze which threatened to destroy the entire interior of the Artway Apts. in Shawsheen Village.

The School Board has requested an appropriation of $184,847. In for the Public Works race are Arthur E. Steinert and George Cairns, both Shawsheen Village contractors.

Leo P. Driscoll, driver of the parcel post truck in Andover for over ten years, was this week awarded a gold medal by the post office department for not having had an accident in the past five years.

Abbot Cheever, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Cheever of Chestnut St., has been named to do a mural at the Madison, Conn. post office. The appointment came as a result of the honorable mention he received in a recent National Post Office competition.

Rev. David I. Sagerstrom and his wife were tendered a warm welcome at a reception at the Unitarian Congregational Church in Ballardvale.

10 Years Ago - February, 1955

Miss Marcia Tangney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Tangney, 7 Dartmouth Rd., has been chosen by her classmates and the faculty of Pynchard High School as the D.A.R. good citizen of the year.

No unanimous conclusion about the value of an elementary foreign language program for Andover was reached in a report recently completed. But some facts were established, and definite areas of agreement and disagreement were examined.

The appointment of Mrs. Alexander Crane to succeed Mrs. Margaret Hearsey upon the latter's retirement as principal of Abbot Academy next summer has been announced by the academy trustees.

Fire which did damage estimated at $5,000 to live stock and property at the G. J. Cavallaro farm on Main St. early Saturday morning is believed to have been started when a sow, about to give birth, kicked over a stove in the sleep house. The sow, it was reported, had broken out of her pen. The litter died with the mother pig.

Fish Growth Regulated By Mystery Ingredient

If you ever have owned goldfish, you may have noticed they never grow too large for the bowl in which they live.

Yet, the same goldfish would have grown into large carp if they had been released in a pond or sluggish river. Occasionally a fisherman pulls a four or five-pound goldfish from the Charles River, for instance. In many states goldfish have been banned as bait because those that escape become huge carp, roiling the water with mud as they forage for plant food.

The exact mechanism that regulates a fish's growth remains imperfectly understood. In fact, some of the better manuals on fish physiology refer to the phenomenon involved in fish growth as "autocatalytic" which means that something within the fish acts upon it - a fact so obvious that the word offers no explanation at all.

The truth is that fish never cease growing so long as they live. A man becomes full-grown at somewhere around 21 to 25, but each year a fish acquires more body. Theoretically, a fish could grow as large as its bony structure could support, which would be very great indeed, since the water environment in which it lives supports most of its weight anyway.

The fact that fish do not cease growing, however, tells little about the rate of growth. And it is this feature - the rate of growth - that makes fish both interesting to the naturalist and a frustration to the fisheries manager.

In essence, any pond is a goldfish bowl. It has clearly defined limits, a maximum volume that cannot be exceeded, and in general, offers all the confinement - and protection - of a bowl to the fish that live in it. In the West, for instance, many species of fish temporarily halt their normal growth in those dry years which cause the pool in which they live to dwindle.

Since fish live in large groups - although not necessarily in schools - they further adjust their growth in relation to the numbers. Thousands of experiments have proved that each pond has a specific poundage of fish that it can support. If a pond can support 100 pounds of fish, that is all the poundage it ever will have - regardless of the number of fish that live in it. To break the proposition down more simply, the pond can support 100 fish that weigh one pound each; or, it can support 10 fish that weigh one-tenth of a pound each.

The ability of a pond to support any number of fish within a certain poundage limit has caused persistent headaches among fisheries managers who hope to provide sportsmen with catchable fish. The sunfishes particularly have caused some mammoth problems. For sunfish reproduce prolifically and are peculiarity prone toward dwarfing.

Without predators thinning the population, sunfish become more and more numerous - and begin maturing at smaller and smaller sizes. Finally the pond is filled with inch-long sunfish that are mature, reproducing and growing so slowly that in practical terms they are not growing at all.

Sportsmen's clubs once viewed such ponds as "fished out." To correct the situation, they dumped in more fish - compounding the catastrophe.

Today, fishery biologists use poison or nets to thin the population. Those that remain - providing the thinning has been drastic - grow into trophy sizes.

Gratitude, in most men, is only a strong and secret hope of greater favors. La Rochefoucauld

Before Lawrence was born, a second charter carried the old railroad into Haverhill and a third took it from there to the Maine boundary as the Boston & Maine.

The history is fuzzy, but Andover's first railroad is believed to be one of the some 111 different railroad companies submerged in the formation of the Boston & Maine system.

QUOTABLE QUOTES ON OUR "GEORGE" EVENT

 Here are some of the things people are saying about Studio Shoppe Furniture's first annual Washington's Furniture Sale.
It's a "George" of an affair and it's now in full swing . . .

 "Let me tell you, I have shopped every store within 30 miles and you've got them all beat!"

 "How can they get away with such low prices on such brand names?"

 "At these prices we can afford two whole rooms instead of just one!"

 "I didn't think you could cut price on names such as these!"

 "Why, these prices are lower than any store I've been in!"

 "What I like about this sale is that nothing is held back - every item is marked down!"

 "This place makes me sick . . . I want to throw out all my stuff and are fantastic!"

 "You mean I can actually buy a $79.50 mattress for only $59.50 and still get the 20 year guarantee?"

 "This is better than the big sales in New York and Washington!"

 Strange how in the days when there were so very few doctors, house calls were the order of the day. Now that there are hundreds of medics being graduated every year . . . the old house call is becoming passe. Even the office call by the patient is being regulated to take just a few minutes.

 The answer to all this, of course, lies in the population boom, which puts the onus on the doctor to the extent that he must make every moment count . . . especially the preliminary exam . . . which could be a huge waste of time. Specialization accounts for the fast diagnosis in the office . . . what with specialists who can be called in to prognosticate complications. It all constitutes medical streamlining in order to care for more serious cases in the proper manner.

Fair Housing Suburb Issue

"Suburbia and Fair Housing" will be the title of a talk to be given Feb. 15 at 8 p.m. at Kemper Auditorium, Phillips Academy, by William J. White. White's talk, to which all Andover realtors have been invited, is sponsored by the Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity.

The speaker is managing director of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board and its Multiple Listing Service. Before assuming this position, which he has held for three years, he was the owner of a large real estate brokerage firm in Natick. White has served as president of the Brokers Institute and was a member of the board of directors of the Greater Boston Real Estate Board.

Frederick Pease, chairman of the Andover Citizens for Equal Opportunity invites the public to attend.

burden in 1966 and 1967, "our town's most difficult years tax-wise."

Candidates for the School Committee, in commenting on the optimum class size for elementary junior high and senior high, settled on figures ranging from 10 to 35 with totals in the middle of this spread suggested for elementary classes.

All the contenders took into consideration the possibility of lecture-size class groups in instances where up-to-date teaching techniques and such devices as television can be utilized.

In commenting on the most desirable method of determining teachers' salary schedules, all six favored some method of communication on salaries with teacher representatives but each recognized the School Committee (and in one case, the administrators) as the sole authority for the setting of schedules.

Insurance can do much more for you today than was possible when you bought your first policies. One of the big improvements is the "package" type of policy in which you get protection, not only against fire or other damage to your property, but also against theft losses and those liability claims that are increasingly common today. May we tell you about it?

RICHARD SANBORN

Sanborn Earns B.S. Degree

Richard Sanborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Sanborn of Fair Cir., recently graduated from the University of Bridgeport (Conn.) with a degree of Bachelor of Science in physical education.

Young Sanborn will now report to Brooklyn, N.Y., where on Feb. 22 he begins service with the U.S. Air Force as an enlistee.

Prior to living in Andover, the Sanborns were North Andover residents where Richard received the top scholar and athlete award given by the Boosters Club. He was a member of the varsity baseball, football and basketball teams for three years.

The methods suggested for getting teacher reactions to salary questions ranged from informal discussions to the establishment of an advisory commission which would include teacher representation.

Commenting were Mrs. Virginia (Milton) Cole, Dr. Daniel Fishman, Dr. Louis J. Galbiati, Simon E. LeGendre, Jr., Irving Newman and Edmund J. Sullivan, Jr.

Arthur Williams, one of the three candidates for moderator, said in the information sheet he sees the Finance Committee (which is appointed by the moderator) as a "legislative research body." Candidate William H. Wilson believes the Fin Com should approach its role in making recommendations on spending with caution, and to announced written candidate Joel R. Labell, the job of the committee is to "balance immediate needs against future needs, arriving at a compromise between them."

Lighting Luminaries . . .

But these men who run the MID-CITY SUPPLY, Inc., are more than just lighting luminaries, for their's is a business that is many faceted. Appliances, for example, are also sold by the folks at MID-CITY. Paints for the home and paints for the artist are also a feature at MID-CITY. So the dazzling display of lighting fixtures - perhaps the most complete north of Boston - should not dazzle your eyes to other well-known items handled by MID-CITY. Their artist's supply department is surely the most complete anywhere. And with artist's supplies, as with everything sold by MID-CITY, there is service. They'll gladly advise and aid you, not only in the selection of your needs, but with answers to questions about their many products. For example, a budding artist can not only purchase his supplies, he can also get the answer to any questions concerning his supplies from these capable men. Have a question about light fixtures, or what paint to use for that first coat on your home? Either visit 92 Broadway, Lawrence, or phone 688-1848. They'll either have the answer, or get it for you, MID-CITY SUPPLY, Inc., a good place to shop.

Red Letter Day . . .

No, February 14th is not a national, paid holiday, at least not in any union contract yet. But it is a day set aside to acknowledge loved ones with some little token of esteem. Perhaps no gift has the sentimental value of flowers, and on this day, as any other, the flowers that first come to mind are flowers from VALENTINE FLORISTS, 27 Main Street, Andover. Delight your selected valentine with a distinctive floral arrangement, or perhaps a potted plant, or cut flowers. Valentine's day does fall on Sunday this year, so you'll have to plan ahead. Phone 475-2929 - Valentine Florists - and make arrangements right now, before you forget. Delivery will be assured before the day, or on any day you wish. Delight your valentine with a thoughtful floral gift from VALENTINE'S. And since Valentine's day does fall on Sunday, include a corsage with your floral gift.

The First Thing To Do

Immediately after death occurs, the funeral director should be called without delay. There are sound reasons for this advice. The more quickly the funeral director is called, the more quickly he will start to relieve the family of the many unforeseen details and burdens which are certain to arise, and with which the family is so ill-prepared to cope. The very presence of the funeral director at such a time is most reassuring and helpful, just as the presence of the physician is helpful in time of illness. The modern member of the profession, such as FREDERICK E. ALLEN, of 402 Broadway, Lawrence, is available at any hour of the day or night, and one need not feel the least hesitancy in calling, regardless of the hour. It is desired that the services of the funeral director be sought as quickly as possible after the need for these services arise.

A Long Time . . .

Since before the turn of the century, the folks at MICHAEL J. SULLIVAN, Inc., "the leading furniture store in Essex County" have been serving the greater Lawrence area with the finest furniture obtainable. There is over 40,000 square feet devoted to display of such prestige names as Drexel modern and traditional, Conant, Ball Maple and Shaw of Cambridge upholstery. Innovations of the SULLIVAN firm include a Home Planners section with rooms entirely decorated so furniture shopping becomes a pleasure. Free interior decorating service is available, and information on that can be had by phoning 686-6157. Another equally important service of SULLIVAN'S is custom made draperies. Over the years, SULLIVAN'S has built their reputation on service and integrity. MICHAEL J. SULLIVAN, Inc., - a name to rely on for every furniture or decorating need.

Service Plus . . .

Behind every purchase, there should be a background of service on the part of the seller. Even such a purchase as a few gallons of gas for the family auto should reflect the desire of the seller to give not only product, but service as well. And it is this magic ingredient that has been so successful in building such a business as the VILLAGE TEXACO SERVICE STATION enjoys. More and more Andover residents are relying on the VILLAGE TEXACO not only for fuel, but for lubrication oil changes and accessories. And behind all this increase, there is that magic ingredient that isn't magic at all, just plain hard work. And it is hard work to clean the windshield and check the tires or make sure all is well under the hood - yet every customer gets a full measure of service with every purchase. If you haven't been into 14 North Main Street lately - you ought to visit them soon.

Slimmest Ever . . .

The Sonotone THINLINE eyeglass hearing aid provides the ultimate in aristocratic styling and better hearing. The hearing aid is completely contained in the slimmest temple ever made by Sonotone - light and trim and available in the three most popular colors. Cleverly built into the streamlined temple is a hearing aid powerful enough to take care of losses ranging from moderate up to severe. Your own eyeglass fronts can be attached to temples for either or both ears. Unusually satisfying binaural hearing is available through fittings for both ears. Where can this marvel be seen? At SONOTONE of Lawrence, Room 332 of the Bay State Building, 301 Essex Street. The THINLINE Sonotone is the best looking eyeglass hearing aid ever made - stylish, pleasing hearing for men and women. It is now available at 400 Sonotone offices across the U. S. Go to the nearest office - Sonotone of Lawrence - and see how easy it is to wear the THINLINE, and how well it looks on you.

ATTY. S. E. LeGENDRE, JR. Atty. LeGendre In School Race

Simeon E. LeGendre, Jr., local lawyer and college faculty member, has announced his candidacy for the School Committee.

Atty. LeGendre holds the rank of associate professor at Merrimack College, where he has taught for the past sixteen years in the Business Administration Department. In 1951 he organized the college's job placement office, which brings students and alumni in contact with prospective employers from industry, education and government. As college director of placement, he continues to head this function.

A graduate of Boston College and Boston University, he was awarded the degrees of Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Laws, and Master of Laws. Admitted to the practice of law in Massachusetts and before the U. S. District Court, he has his office in Andover.

Organizations in which he has membership include: The Lawrence Bar Association, the Boston College Club of Lawrence, New England Business Law Association, Aquinas League, and Eastern College Personnel Officers. Atty. LeGendre is a past president of the Central Elementary P.T.A., and also served on its board of directors.

A native of Lawrence, the candidate has made his home in Andover since 1944. He was in the U. S. Army for five years during World War II, taking part in Southwest Pacific campaigns as a member of the American Division.

He is married to the former Alice Petteruti, and they have seven children: Judith, a Sophomore at Merrimack College; Marilyn, a high school senior; Janice and Stephen, both in junior high; Elaine, Nancy, and Maribeth, all in the elementary grades.

Board To Hear Nursing Home Plea Tonight

The Zoning Board of Appeals will listen tonight to the proposal of Schlott Realty Co. petitioning for a variance to permit construction of a nursing home on land at Shawsheen Plaza.

Proposed is a 100-bed home which Developer Walter P. Hughes says would be built in Colonial style, similar in many respects to the Town Manor Nursing Home in Lawrence. Hughes, an Andover resident and a member of the administrative staff at Lawrence General Hospital, has developed nursing homes in Salisbury and Danvers.

Also to be heard at tonight's 7:30 p.m. hearing:

A request from Harry Axelrod for a variance to permit recreational facilities (golfing and winter sports) at the rear of 311 Lowell St. for Sheraton Rolling Green Motor Inn.

A request from Edward P. Champy Jr. for a permit to make two apartments into three at 24-26 Cuba St.

A request from Edna Kidd for a permit to allow additional apartments at 97 Elm St.

Andover Students Hold Abbot Jobs

Four Andover girls attending Abbot Academy have been elected to student government offices during the current year.

Jacqueline McGinty, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John McGinty, 7 Cheever Cir., is president of the Prep Class; Margaret Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Wilde of Corbett Rd., is vice president of the junior class.

Nancy McArdle, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John McArdle of 47 Central St. and Margaret Warshaw, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thayer Warshaw, 16 Carisbrooke St., are serving as president and secretary-treasurer of the day students, in that order.

Irene McCarthy Social Worker

The appointment of Miss Irene H. McCarthy as a social worker for the Andover Welfare Department was confirmed this week by Town Manager Richard Bowen.

Miss McCarthy has been a senior clerk with the department since June, 1961, and her advancement will ultimately result in enlargement of the welfare staff by one.

Prior to her present position, Miss McCarthy was executive secretary for the American Red Cross, Andover chapter. Before that she spent a number of years as an executive assistant with Badger Co., Cambridge, an international chemical engineering firm.

In announcing the appointment, Bowen said the increased welfare department case load makes it necessary to enlarge the staff. He pointed out that the cost of welfare salaries is 75 per cent supported by state and federal subsidies.

Miss McCarthy will receive a salary of $5,300 in her new post. She leaves her present job at the maximum pay for the senior clerk classification. Her replacement will be hired, according to the manager, at the minimum for the classification which is $3,035.
